1. A conference of leading West German Communist Party functionaries took place on 23 and 24 August 1952 at Bremen, at which there were present: State Secretary Heinz Willmann, from the East German People's Republic, member of the Socialist Unity Party (SED) Politbüro and general secretary of the German Peace Committee; Karl Litke, of East Berlin, candidate of the SED Politbüro, delegate of the All German Workers' Committee, and SED special commissioner to supervise the West German mass organizations.
2. Willmann and Litke severely criticized the work of the West German cover organizations, that had talked and not done anything. The only exception was the "Vox Institute for Public Opinion Research" in Düsseldorf, whose successful work up to now must be expanded by all means.
3. Important missions of the Vox Institute for the immediate future are:
  - a. Collection of important military and political information, for which Frau Petra Hansmann is responsible.
  - b. Making new connections among West German politicians and administrators.
  - c. Collection of private dossiers on all important West German personalities in key positions.
